* A 15 song collection of psychedelic blues and folk music plus some poetry all written and performed solo by Sunny Zarro, an artist who in 1969 moved from New York City to Venice Beach, California.

*A product of the 1960's, Sunny hung out with Janis Joplin, Jimi Hendrix and Bob Dylan.

*Sunny slept outside and sometimes in an inoperable car, never far from his large cart filled with everyday necessities and personal treasures.

*Everyone knew Sunny and eventually embraced him as "The King of Venice".

*He could often be found on or near the Venice Boardwalk holding court with the other local artists.

*This never released CD was recorded 15 years ago on a cassette 4 track.

* Sunny recently passed away and the CD is now an extremely important historical document from a man influential in the 1960's psychedelic movement.
